

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods for assisting a technician in tuning a musical instrument exhibiting inharmonicity, such as a piano. In one aspect, a plurality of target frequencies are calculated using a table of preferred stretch values. In another aspect, target frequencies are calculated from multiple inharmonicity measurements during the time a tone generator is sounding.